

Well, we are back from another great trip. And what a blast it was! There is an old saying that goes like this “words can’t describe it.” So was the case for this trip. There were things that happened, but you would have had to have been there to believe it. All the adults went above and beyond to make this trip one to remember for years to come. Others, well they went even a little further (Sabrina Jones).

As for the youth, we saw some pretty amazing things. For instance, we know now that in today's time a teenager can go a whole day without a cell phone and live to tell about it. Also we saw that, given the chance, new friendships can be made.

Above all I think everything came together. Teens working together in their groups, relationships with the Lord brought back together, youth choir coming together and sounding great, adults working together to supply us all with a great breakfast each morning, as well as some great entertainment. “And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God.” (Romans 8:28)

Thanks to everyone that helped. To those that brought snacks and drinks, to those that prayed for us while we were gone, and to those that were able to be there, you made this trip possible and a success.
